Heritage Happenings:

Selah

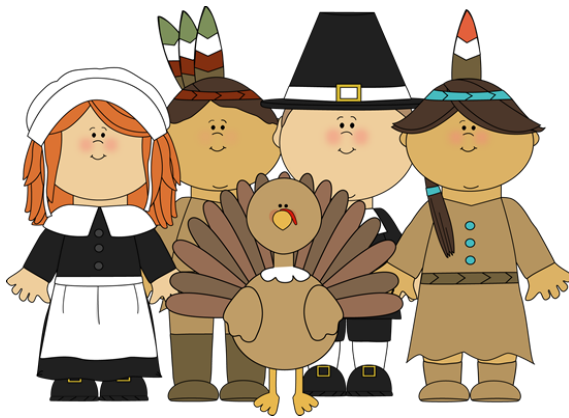

As we approach thanksgiving, many think of turkey, cornucopias of fruit, and football. We look forward to a large meal, though not the after party of cleaning it up. We take pictures in leaves and of nature, having a great time with friends. This is well and to be expected, but how often do we stop and be truly thankful? We may stop at the meal and go around to ask everyone for what they are thankful, but do we mean it? If we do then it should be seen daily, not just yearly at the appointed time of thankfulness. As Christians especially, we should be overflowing with praise to the Prince of Power. Unfortunately, we so often get caught up with the temporal that we relegate the eternal to whatever side time is available. Thankfulness is often neglected at a high price. This holiday season, let us have continual thanks and praise for the great grace given us. The Psalms, I believe, show this best. They magnify His name, singing and praising in endless thanks. My favorite part in any Psalm, however, is one word, Selah. The meaning of this five-lettered word is thought to mean a break or pause in the song to consider the weight of what was just said, the truth and importance of it. This is what we need to approach Thanksgiving with, continual praise followed with a pause to reflect on God's goodness. Often the pause turns into a mind-boggling minute as we consider all He has done for us and the very concept of an eternal God who would love me.

So, this Thanksgiving let's not just circle the table once or twice to receive a few truly thankful nouns, let's integrate the praise, thoughtfulness, and thankfulness of that word "Selah" into the fabric of our daily lives. Making time daily to "Be still, and know that I am God". Just sit without all our worldly distractions and ponder on our universe. The time won't seem to matter as much after we do this. While earthly tasks must be attended to, don't forget the more important heavenly ones; our lives are not perfect, we've seen to that, but they are far better than either you or I deserve, so let's be thankful for that. Selah.

"Thank you God for food that you provide us.

Thank you Lord for my family.

Thank you lord for the location you place us.

Thank you Lord for the military.

Thank you Lord for dying on the cross for our sins.

Thank you Lord for Your protection.

Thank you Lord for your faithfulness." - Dev Hicks

"One is orange

Two are Brown

Three look yellow

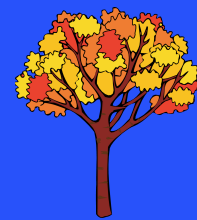

On the ground

Three are green

Two bright red

One just fell

Upon my head."
